HAWAIIAN MAIL MATTERS.

A despatch dated, Washington, April 4th says: Superintendent Bell of the foreign mail service, in a bul-letin recently issued, states that the Hawaiian office has called the attention of the Postoffice Department to the circumstance that many articles which are subject to Hawaiian customs duties when imported from other foreign countries are by treaty entitled to free admission to the Hawaiian kingdom if they were manu-factured or produced in the United States. In order to enjoy the exemption from Hawaiian customs duties above referred to, articles manufactured or produed in the United States and sent by parcel post to the Ha-waiian kingdom should be distinctly marked "manufactured in the United States." Postmasters will cause the senders of parcels of post packages for the Hawaiian Kingdom to be so

THE TAHITI DISASTER.

In reference to the reported disaster at Tahiti, a San Francisco Bulletin correspondent signing himself "Tahiti" states that, owing to the immediate vicinity of the highlands at Papeete to which people could flee for safety, no great loss of life is likely to have occurred there, and comes to the conclusion that the drowning of thousands probably occurred at the low Paumotu Group, lying to the northeast. It may be that this view is the co rect one. At the same time the very clear and concise telegrams from Auckland to the effect that "The capital city is totally destroyed, some people managed to reach the highlands and thus escaped the flood, hundreds of houses in Papeete were carried away and public buildings ruined," etc., points directly to Tabiti, for the reason that there are no highlands in the Paumotu Group, nor any buildings to speak of, save a few scattered trading shanties and native huts.

That the Paumotu Group, distant from Tahiti less than 300 miles, must have also suffered severely, there is but little doubt, since most of the islands are not over 5 feet above sea level, and the sea would probably make a clean sweep over the group, in which case the loss of life must have been great indeed.

PERSONAL ITEMS.

Mr. W. J. Forsyth, of cinchona and coffee fame, was heard from by the last mail from San Francisco. He wrote under date of March 6, from the island of Bermuda, where the steamer Federation, on which he was a passenger from England bound for New Orleans, put in with a broken propeller.
Mr. G. A. Amsden, the piano-tuner, leaves for Kauai this evening on the Mikahala, to tune and repair a number of pianos. He returns on Sunday.

THE BULLETIN SUMMARY.

The Bulletin Weekly Summary is out to-day. It is a splendid number, containing amongst other things a full account of the memorial services at the three churches, a graphic account of the loss of the Vandalia by the last man to leave the vessel, news from all of the other islands, and any quantity of interesting local news. The Summary is not filled with advertisements; it has only reading matter. To meet the increased demand for this popular summary of Hawaiian news an extra edition has been printed. Do not fail to mail a copy to your friends abroad by the Planter, which leaves on Saturday and carries a mail.

THE WALLA WALLA.

The steamer Walla Walla, which was to have taken the place of the Australia, was libelled at Seattle, W. T., March 19th. It is charged that upon her trip from Victoria of February 10, she took on board 370 pounds of opium marked "sauerkraut," consigned to J. Light, Ellensburgh, and landed them at Tacoma on February 13, with the knowledge and consent of Captain Reports from all parts of the State of California, show that grain, fruit and feed promise a greater yield than ary 27 the Walla Walla took on has ever been known, independ-ently of the fact that the increase in grease," containing 430 pounds of acreage is as high in some sections as one-third, especially in the southern counties.

opium, and consigned to J. Dark, Ellensburgh. The value of the opium is alleged to be $13,000, and the vessel is therefore libelled in this amount. The fact that' those consignments did not appear on the inward foreign manifiest of the vessel is alleged as prima facie evidence that Captain D. O. Blackburn was engaged in the smuggling trade. The owners of the vessel furnished bonds in $26,000 and she proceeded to San Francisco. The case is set for hearing on April 4.

The announcement was formally made yesterday that the American Sugar Refinery had sold its property, business, assets, good-will, etc., to Havemeyer & Elder, of New York. The business will be continued un-der the name of "American Sugar Refinery, Havemeyer & Elder, Proprietors." The business of Messrs. Havemeyer & Elder will be managed by Rudolph H. Kissell, as agent and sole attorney. The American Sugar Refinery will use the offices formerly occupied by the old company at 124 California street. None of the former stockholders or officers will hereafter share in the management of the works, the sole management and wnership resting with the Eastern firm above mentioned. The following circular of the sale is self-explan-

CONFIRMATORY CIRCULARS.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1, 1889. The American Sugar Refinery company having sold its property, business, assets, good will, etc., to Havemeyer & Elder, doing business under the name of American Sugar Refinery, Havemeyer & Elder, proprietors, we hereby request you to settle and adjust with them any outstanding accounts. The American Sugar Refinery Co. Robert Oxnard, President.

The above circular was followed by

San Francisco, Cal., Apr. 1, 1889. We beg to notify you that we have purchased the property and business of the American Sugar Refinery Company, and, as their successors, are prepared to fill your orders as

All the outstanding accounts and bills are to be settled and adjusted

Feeling assured that your interests will be well and faithfully served, we ask a continuance of your past patronage and favors, and remain, yours very truly, Havemeyer & Elder, Rudolph H. Kissel, Agent.

The corporation known as the American Sugar Refinery will continue in existence with its former officers, and have its headquarters at 220 California street. Robert Oxnard, President of the company, stated yesterday to a "Call" representative that Havemeyer & Elder had made an offer for the property and business of the company, and the offer was such that it was deemed for the best interest of the stockholders to accept. The right to use the term "American Sugar Refinery" was also sold with the property, but the local company reserved the privilege of continuing its corporate existence under its old

The American Sugar Refinery Company is in a peculiar position. It is a fully organized and officered body, with plenty of capital, but hav-ing no business, factory or plant. The company intends to engage in some business, the nature of which has not yet been determined upon. It is probable that the corporation may embark in the beet sugar industry.

The purchase of the works of the American Sugar Refinery Company is a private venture on the part of Messrs. Havemeyer & Elder. The refinery, under the new management, will not be controlled directly by the Eastern Sugar Trust, as that is managed by another company, although Havemeyer & Elder are the principal stockowners in the sugar
